Robust CMS web platform for Helsinki based software company to extend

Sitekit CMS: Easy to use control panel

Contact form integrated with Microsoft Dynamics CRM

case study

Challenge:

Software company QPR required an extensible CMS platform to deliver custom functionality to their clients.

Solution:

QPR could have built a CMS in-house, however as a software developer they quickly recognised the out of the box flexibility Sitekit offered.

Sitekit CMS was selected for the multilingual and personalisation tools built into the software.

In addition the Sitekit Software Development Kit (SDK) gave their developers the flexibility they needed to create bespoke functionality on top.

Result:

QPR is now rapidly developing web sites with custom extensions based on the robust Sitekit CMS platform.
